Opalite Learning

A quick introduction to what Opalite Learning offer:

Opalite's core mission is to work collaboratively with an institution's leaders, educators and students to achieve and retain grades of outstanding. Opalite offers a range of supportive CPD packages. It is our belief that CPD should be: personable, supportive, interactive, and reflective. The Educator Zone on the website contains an interactive online CPD area specifically for educators.

The CPD package contains a series of interviews between educational professionals, all of which provide meaningful strategies on:

- Teaching and learning pedagogy
- Safeguarding
- Student Wellbeing
- Special Educational Needs
- Personal Development, Behaviours and Attitudes

All of our CPD interviews link back to our OPAL reflective journal. We believe that our reflective journal allows educators to develop their core practice and resilience in becoming outstanding.

The Opalite Learning Site also contains a 'Student Zone'. There are a series of interviews with charities and community organisations linking to the themes of Personal Development, Behaviours and Attitudes. All interviews link to a student reflection 'My Personal Development Skills Journal'. We believe that it is important that students reflect on their wellbeing to develop skills and resilience. Our journals help to show the impact of outstanding practice.

"How will Opalite Learning and its OPAL Structure help advance continuous professional development in: teaching and learning, personal development, behaviours, attitudes, and transferable skills?"

In addition to our virtual educators CPD package and student reflection zone, we offer face to face and online training for leaders and educators. This is an excellent opportunity to develop meaningful educational strategies to support the achievement of outstanding. This is designed to retain educators, develop core skills and resilience.

Our training packages are split into three areas:

- Structural - Full institutional analysis of leadership and management.
- Teaching - Teaching and learning pedagogy.
- Pastoral - Tutorial, Personal Development, Positive Behaviours and Attitudes.

What is the OPAL Structure?

Once Opalite Learning was created, both founders created the OPAL Structure in early 2022. The OPAL Structure enables educators and students to develop core reflective, analytical and evaluative skills through allowing issues and experiences to be broken down into the following: the overview of a topic, the key points of the topic, the actions needed, and what educators and students can learn and reflect upon. All of Opalite's educator and student facing activity videos use the OPAL structure and make direct references on how to use the structure in their reflective journal. The Journals track the professional/personal development skills and the actions educators and students have taken and need to take.
